Prosecution witness irrelevant to Corona case

By Cathy C. Yanesa and TJ Burgeño

AN INCENSED Senate President Juan Ponce Enrile yesterday injected a prosecution witness called to testify that Chief Justice Renato Corona and his wife allegedly enjoyed special treatment from Philippine Airlines (PAL) while a case involving the company was pending in the Supreme Court.

On Day 21 of Corona's trial, Enrile noted that Enrique Javier, PNC vice president for sales, was "incompetent" in proving that Corona committed breach of public trust and public violation of the Constitution under Article 3 of the impeachment complaint because he had a "plethora card" that allowed him "special benefits" from the airline.

Enrile would have been the prosecution's last witness.

Gov't warned on bank records leak: Palace blackmailing critics

By Christian V. Equiano, Christine D. Arellano and Marlon Ramon

SENATE President Juan Ponce Enrile yesterday warned about the larger implications of the claim that the Anti-Money Laundering Council (AMLC) or the Bureau of Internal Revenue (BIR) could have leaked Chief Justice Renato Corona's bank records.

Enrile agreed with Sen. Joker Arroyo who expressed alarm at the impeachment trial on Monday over the possibility of blackmail using the AMLC to Michael Manzano.

"Yes, because the AMLC is not supposed to examine any account without going to court," Enrile said in Filipino, adding that the bill seeking to amend the Anti-Money Laundering Law "will be examined very thoroughly."

40-day Lent starts: Do acts of kindness, says Church

By Joseph R. Uy

AS MILLIONS of Roman Catholics begin to observe today in north Asia Wednesday the Church is reminding its faithful of a primary message from Christ: the calling of others, even small acts of kindness helps.

At the start of the 40-day Lenten season, the Catholic Bishops' Conference of the Philippines (CBCP) called on its flock to practice charity by supporting the Church's Akyat Bayan program and other humanitarian projects.

In the Archdiocese of Lingayen-Dagupan, Catholics are expected today to start reading the new English version of the Lord's Prayer, one of the changes in the English translation of the Roman Missal of 2010.

Over Church-run Radio Veritas yesterday, CBCP president and Cebu Archbishop Jose Palma also exhorted the people to

PDEA sues Madrigal firm over 'shabu' lab

By DJ Tap

THE PHILIPPINE Drug Enforcement Agency (PDEA) has sued five officials of a company controlled by the family of the late philanthropist, and Philippine Consulate "Chino" Madrigal-Collores and two administrators of her estate in connection with last month's discovery of a drug laboratory on a property owned by the firm in Marikina City.

PDEA General Counsel Jose Gutierrez Jr. said in a statement yesterday that the drug charges against members of Taron Holdings, Inc.—the registered owner of a large house in the exclusive subdivision which was found converted into a methamphetamine (shabu) or "shabu" laboratory—were filed outside Marikina City premises.

The names of the company's executives were not listed in the PDEA statement although the firm's information sheet identifies its officers as Manuel G. Collores, Jr., owner; A. S. Madrigal, Gloria P. Collores, heads of Corporate and General, President.

The administrators of Collores' estate are Aurelio Montecillo II and Peter P.

According to Gutierrez, he said since PDEA officials were considered drug laboratories, he and the firm's executives should be held liable for violation of crime provisions of the Comprehensive Dangerous Drugs Act of 2002.

These include Section 4 (manufacture of dangerous drugs), Section 11 (possession of dangerous drugs) and Section 12 (possession of equipment for dangerous drugs), in relation to Section 30 (criminal liability of officers or partners, associates, associates or other natural persons under Article 17 of Republic Act 2002).

To officers of Taron Holdings Inc. and other individuals, they are primarily responsible in ensuring that the property under their administration or management is not misappropriated for (illegitimate) use.

"The negligence on their part to inspect the said property allowed the commission of the crime, in this case, the manufacture of shabu," Gutierrez added as he claimed that the officials and company administrators

By Hira College

THE MAN who succumbed to injuries suffered during an alleged fraternity hazing in a hazing in Marikina City over the weekend was identified on Tuesday as a freshman law student of San Beda College.

Police yesterday said Marvin Regis, 25, died receiving a chest injury when he was hit by the handle of a hammer, "Lumina Blue line." Following the arrest of two law students from another school who are being linked to the crime.

Investigators also seized the two students' cell phones that had clues for investigators to follow. "These mobile phones don't just store all messages on your phone regarding the intrusion. Don't assume it's just in your own office."

Another message read: "Scholarship. That's the order. In all messages. AMM from this case. You must all stop."

The messages were sent by one "MJ Regis."

The incident drew considerable attention from San Beda University, Lungsod ng Marikina, who informed the National Bureau of Investigation to conduct a criminal investigation.

Dr. Lungsod also sought a review of the satisfaction level to ensure that University leaders and not just their activities are made to ensure that they are.

Relations with San Beda's body at San Beda University Marikina could hardly speak to, those who told of the confrontation, said Chief Tap. Zaidy Aquino, Deputy head of the 4th police post.

"They were successful. We haven't talk to them," Aquino told the lawyer yesterday.

Regis was brought to Urology Medical Center around 7 p.m. on Sunday by a group of men in a red Honda City (PBB-174), before the driver pronounced him dead on arrival, the man later died.

The victim's law firm also filed a suit but an injury on his nose initially appeared to be the cause of the death, Aquino said.

Banking industry resources up by 6% to P7.5T

By Michelle K. Reyes

THE BANKING sector's resources rose further in November 2011, according to regulators, though that leads to the country would be able to support faster economic growth decline.

Officials at the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas said the growing resources of domestic banks also showed the stability of the industry despite the lingering crisis in the eurozone.

From 2010, the BSP reported that it is at end-November, the combined resources of banks operating in the country amounted to P7.5 trillion, rising by 6 percent from P7.05 trillion in the same period last year.

Rising public confidence in lending institutions

The growth in resources was driven by the continued rise in deposits from the public that indicated the confidence of individual and corporate depositors in the ability of Philippine banks to guard to take care of their money, regulation said.

The rise in deposits likewise indicated the generally growing income level both of households and corporate entities, despite the ill effect of the prolonged debt crisis in the euro zone.

Europe's chronic economic crisis spurs workers and serves as a major marketing push produced by Philippine companies.

European officials said that except for the decline in export earnings, the Philippines was not significantly impacted by the crisis in the Eurozone.

They said demand for Philippine exports continued to grow in absolute value among major and corporate customers, despite the ill effect of the prolonged debt crisis in the euro zone.

Overseas and commercial banks accounted for P6.7 trillion in resources, with BSP banks and credit bank holding nearly P500 billion and P195 billion, respectively.

Regulators said the growing resources of banks in the country would help support further increase in loans to the public to support consumption and investment.

By the end of 2011, outstanding loans from commercial and commercial banks in the country stood at P2.77 trillion, rising year-on-year by 29.3 percent.

The BSP and bank lending was expected to require member banks to provide the loan given potential increase in demand for loans, especially by loan seekers, and the strong support of banks to lend.

The BSP said the government's push for the implementation of big ticket public infrastructure projects under the Public-Private Partnership (PPP) program was one to help boost demand for loans from firms.

Under the PPP the government is taking private enterprises to invest in public infrastructure projects.

MVP to get a Brazilian model?

WENDELMAN Money
Pangloss, who leads a host of high-profile Philippine companies, is apparently under scrutiny for financial models of at least one.

The Monday, he left a media briefing about industry rumors on the lack of credibility on his company's earnings reports. Pangloss said he was not in a position to make any further-based financial model.

MVP kept quiet on whether he would buy around three million, and for what purpose. He did not say, however, that he had no intention of buying shares that they looked "true" and that "the findings, the investors look good."

He said that Pangloss made comments that would affect the stock, but he was not in a position to make any further-based financial model.

Incidentally, just before the financial statement was released by Pangloss, the company's stock price rose 10 percent, from 100 to 110 pesos.

Confirming the City's graduation

THE HONDA Civic has been a big success since its debut in the Thai market 15 years ago. It was among the models to be sold in Thailand by Honda Cars Philippines Inc. (HCCI) in 1999 to test drive it, and at that time City Incubator Inc. (CII) was the sole importer in the country. Since then, Honda has been offering a lot of models.

But started in January 2009 when HCCI failed to get a license to import more models, CII was the only one to sell City in the country. In 2011, CII was the only one to sell City in the country. In 2011, CII was the only one to sell City in the country.

A tough diamond to crack

By Tessa R. Salazar

In any competition, the most serious—and formidable—participant is usually the most silent. This competitor lets its rich history speak for itself. It does not promise, yet it delivers every time.

And oftentimes, it takes extreme pressures to reveal its true nature. The automobile industry nowadays is rife with competitors who spend their spend with the and between and all the surrounding landscapes that the goals of international competition can only be when they where the competitive landscape in this country was being increasingly formed by a few key manufacturers in the decades ago.

There have been one pioneer in the local market, and among them, only one ever left the country without the going got really tough. The first national, national leader, that automobile manufacturer today remains silent all others.

It may not have been by accident that Yutaka Iwasaki thought of three diamonds as he set up his business empire back in 1873. Since then, the same, and the wisdom, has truly eluded when Iwasaki made for and has undergone to the global arena.

In the Philippines alone, Mitsubishi, which has been here since 1872, has been subjected to numerous tests of its will and strength, from the tumultuous independence movement of the Manila-Luzon years in the 1930s, coupled by the decadal years of all cities, on to the chaotic period between 1945 Japan's occupation and the war.

As of 1965, to the paradigm-shifting People Power Revolution in 1986, to the earthquake-stricken 1997 Asian financial crisis, Mitsubishi Motor Philippines endured it.

Even when crisis came from within, Mitsubishi held forth vigorously. In 2002, Mitsubishi Motors in Japan became embroiled in a global recall controversy that would have brought weaker companies to their knees. However, the Mitsubishi Motors Philippines steadfast, unable to bow down even for a moment in the recall issue, has emerged. When sales also dipped in the Japanese, US and Western European markets.

In a previous interview with BusinessWorld, MMC's president Masahiko Iwata (who joined MMC in 2006) revealed: "The Asian financial crisis in 1997 and the worldwide recall [involving 500,000 vehicles] in 2000 caused our market decline. Until 2007, Mitsubishi Motors operations in the Philippines were low. Market share was about 12 percent."

While noting the big gains made by Iwata, he said, however, that Japanese car brands still enjoyed some advantages over Korean-made ones. "They import CBRs [completely built-up units] from home, that means they have to pay the 38-percent import duty while Japan pays 10-percent import duty. In 2006, imported "The Asian financial crisis in 1997 and the worldwide recall [involving 500,000 vehicles] in 2000 caused our market decline. Mitsubishi's loyalty to the local market has been rewarded with a loyal customer base—as proven by being—avoid the influx of competitors and other adverse circumstances.

Patricia Dizon-Santos, MMC vice president for marketing services, said: "Philippines are basically local consumers, particularly when they return. We noticed that in our local surveys, the more loyal they are to the brand. Then they put this loyalty on to their children. That's going to be our edge—the experience of using the brand, the dealership, and the service."

Despite all the challenges and within, MMC has consistently stayed at the top of overall sales, year in, year out. It became the number one selling brand twice—in 1988 and 1998, and as its home sales during the 2000 recall crisis, in Philippine sales was still a buy-one number three.

Today, its Montero SUV is the third bestselling vehicle in the Philippines, after the omnipresent Toyota Yaris and Isuzu.

One reason

Auto historian Gino Chapman revealed that the three-diamond mark—the genesis of the Mitsubishi logo—just is an early appearance on war vessel chosen by buxarri, as it signified both the three oak leaves of his lion crest—most even (the general "Mitsubishi" for whom he had once worked and from whom he learned his three diamond shape) and also the three marked diamonds of his own family crest.

Consequently, it also represented the three blades of a ship propeller. It was in 1874 that the shipping company was renamed Mitsubishi Iwakura, and a Japanese government granted for his burgeoning empire awarded buxarri with favorable operations. This shipping company eventually became the jump-off point for the auto industry in 1905.

The name "Mitsubishi" is a combination of the Japanese words "three" and "diamond" (which actually means "water crystals"), although the Japanese have long used the word as a metaphor for a diamond or diamond-shaped object. Chapman described the Japanese character in having a tendency to leave the "M" sound in a "Y" when it occurs in the middle of the word, making the brand sound as both when used in the word "Mitsubishi"—hence the name "Mitsubishi."

And the all-terrain vehicle, which has been used for a long time as a metaphor for a diamond or diamond-shaped object. Chapman described the Japanese character in having a tendency to leave the "M" sound in a "Y" when it occurs in the middle of the word, making the brand sound as both when used in the word "Mitsubishi"—hence the name "Mitsubishi."

Mitsubishi Heavy Industries, from which Mitsubishi Motors Corp. would spring forth, did not, however. And the car is known as the "Mitsubishi" by the market in February 2010.

Interior upgrades include touchscreen navigation and overhead aircon vents

By Jessica K. Ray

THE MITSUBISHI Montero Sport climbed its way to become the country's best-selling sport utility vehicle, and more than, Mitsubishi Motors Philippines has been rapidly replacing the Montero Sport to make it worthy of replacing its position.

In 2011, the Montero Sport gained a valuable property: a turbocharger for the semi-automatic version of the Montero Sport (as well as the 2.4-liter). The VLE is known to reduce turbo lag and lower efficiency and power across the engine's rev range. The 2.4-liter engine delivers 201 HP and 230 Nm. Now, the manual version also got the 4GT but with higher torque: 400 Nm, with only 1798 cc.

For 2012, the Montero Sport GLS V 412 automatic comes with a five-speed automatic transmission with paddle shifters. The new feature has been added to standard class for better shifting power. Inside, the refreshed interior features overhead aircon vents for the second and third row of seats. Cruise control has been added to the Montero Sport GLS V 240L, 412L, and 416V variants. The entertainment system comes with a 7-inch LCD display with touch screen controls, with DVD and CD playback capability. There's also an input for USB devices. The multi-information display shows commonly viewed, temperature, direction, compass, speed, range functions and real-time pressure monitoring. The 416V and 416V models also feature a GPS navigation system.

One of the Montero

Sport's advantages is its most comfortable ride. The car rides on double wishbone up front and a rear three-link swing arm suspension with coil springs. Anti-lock brakes help with braking performance, and steering wheel is a reasonable 3.8 meters.

The 416V and GLS V 416V variants feature

Mitsubishi Super Select 4WD, same as on the current Pajero. The system allows switching from 2WD to high-range 4WD (and back) while on the move, at up to 100 km/h. The 416V includes a limited-slip differential to help it glide for way from slippery surfaces.

Individuals with a history of stroke, TIA, or other neurological conditions should consult their physician before starting any exercise program.

Abstract: The authors examined the effects of a 12-week, low-intensity, supervised walking program on the physical and psychological health of older adults. The program was designed to improve cardiovascular fitness, muscle strength, and balance. The results showed that participants who completed the program experienced significant improvements in cardiovascular fitness, muscle strength, and balance compared to the control group. The program was well-tolerated and had no adverse effects on participants' health. The authors conclude that a supervised walking program is a safe and effective intervention for improving the physical and psychological health of older adults.

Abstract. Staphylococcus saprophyticus is a common nosocomial pathogen, but its epidemiology is not well understood. We performed a 12-month study of S. saprophyticus isolates from patients in a tertiary care hospital. The isolates were characterized by pulsed-field gel electrophoresis (PFGE) and by stx and hly typing. The isolates were also characterized by stx and hly typing. The isolates were also characterized by stx and hly typing. The isolates were also characterized by stx and hly typing.

While there is a growing body of research on the effects of the Internet on the economy, there is still a need for more research on the effects of the Internet on the labor market. This paper examines the effects of the Internet on the labor market in the United States. The paper finds that the Internet has had a significant positive effect on the labor market, particularly in the area of job matching. The paper also finds that the Internet has had a significant positive effect on the labor market, particularly in the area of job matching. The paper also finds that the Internet has had a significant positive effect on the labor market, particularly in the area of job matching.

Results on the third step (change in perceived social support) are shown in Table 2. The results indicate that the change in perceived social support was significantly greater in the intervention group than in the control group ( $F(1, 100) = 10.00, p = .002$ ).

State of Charge
The battery's state of charge (SOC) is a measure of the amount of energy stored in the battery relative to its total capacity. It is expressed as a percentage, ranging from 0% (fully discharged) to 100% (fully charged). The SOC is determined by the voltage across the battery terminals, which is influenced by the battery's internal resistance and the load connected to it. A higher SOC indicates a higher voltage and a longer runtime for the device.

Aspirin, salicylic acid and acetylsalicylic acid are considered as a group and are regarded as weak acids with an  $\text{pK}_a$  of 3.5.

How do you raise a 7-year-old angel like Bronte?

IT'S NOT very often I get to meet a real angel. Last Wednesday, that was exactly what I got to do.

Bronte Harding looked beyond her years—only six during school, a tiny and hair-pink smile, as if 7-year-old might do.

I had been looking forward to meeting Bronte ever since my sister-in-law, Ann, forwarded me a link to her video on YouTube. "You may have heard of her and her video by now, which was so with the images and video of the tragedy of Typhoon 'Sendong'."

But what is unusual is the video accompanying it. It's a young and innocent voice explaining to the best of her abilities, what has just happened to all these families and how important, how the children must be feeling.

But what the viewers, "How would you feel?" with a sense of urgency, how she does not and there she comes up with a plan to bring some joy to these children—1,000 crafted tags for Bronte and Bronte's little brother's teddy bear Typhoon Toy Drive.

As I listen and I make my way to Manila in October, I wondered how many hours the video had been able to gather. As the video images, we were told by family friend from Frederick, Nara to the foundation development head at LRC Foundation and my link to Bronte and her mom, Megan Harding.

So immediately we see the hotel's lobby lower drop-off point, "Tree of Love," under which hundreds of colorful hearts, of all shapes and sizes, were carefully placed, distributed and Bronte gradually adding her own to the pile while I congratulated Bronte as a job well done.

"Oh, that's just the 50% of the project. There are many more hearts than that!" she said. "We've got about 1,500."

Devotion

This all began when Bronte, with her parents, saw the devastation of "Sendong" on TV. Living in Los Angeles, she was not the tallest with typhoons. While other parents might have tried to shield their young children from such a terrifying occurrence, Bronte explained it all to her.

"Telling her was from her parents, who, at that point were doing what they could to help through the disaster. Bronte decided she had to do something to help."

"One day Bronte came and said, 'I feel lonely, I feel sad, I feel alone.'"

Bronte was found in a child's bedroom and was crying because she was a baby.

Afterward with a video camera and photo team at her parents' home, as the video, Bronte proceeded to record her message and plan. They didn't know

How do you expose your child to harsh realities? The daughter of the 'Bourne Identity' accountant is a good example to illustrate this. And she has already gathered 3,500 toy bears for 'Sendong' kids what to expect. After all, millions of videos are uploaded every day. "How would you feel?"

A lot of people, apparently, love, love was waiting, not just from Filipinos, but from all over the world—the US, Europe, Japan and Australia.

And the last part was that it was children themselves mobilizing to collect bears, such as what Bronte's 7-year-old cousin in New York did. She immediately wrote a letter and read it to her classmates in school before long. Megan received more than 200 bears were on their way.

Megumi, Bronte's 4-year-old sister, had managed to collect a good number of bears from her

Remove Blemishes And Dark Spots:

Look Younger With Clear, Even Skin

In order to reap the youthful look of a clear, unblemished and even complexion, Facial Laser Treatments are scientifically advanced means that can effectively remove unwanted blemishes, dark spots and other skin imperfections that make the skin look older.

The Diamond Peel is a non-invasive treatment that uses a diamond dust-coated wand to exfoliate the skin. The controlled pulsing action of the diamond peel aids in the shedding action of a cell, gently removing dead cells in the top layer of the skin. The Diamond Peel can help remove fine lines around the eyes, forehead, corners of the lips and other areas of the face, as well as acne scars, age spots, hyperpigmentation, marks caused by sun damage and other imperfections.

In order to lighten dark, dull skin, there is Fluoroglycol-C, a whitening breakthrough that makes use of the potent properties of Vitamin C to reverse the darkening of the skin without leaving redness or growth stimulation. It can treat dull, blemished skin, pigmentation and other dark spots and discolorations. Fluoroglycol-C also contains Vitamin A, C and E which together with the skin's natural pH level, prevent blemishes, dryness and reduce positive reactions.

To completely erase the skin complexion, the Collagen Whitening Mask is a highly concentrated solution. It works the benefits of Kojic acid, which is known for its whitening effect. The Collagen Whitening Mask effectively evens out the skin. It also soothes the irritation of redness, as well as reduces existing redness in the skin. The collagen in the mask deeply moisturizes the skin to rapidly reduce fine lines and wrinkles, making the skin firm and supple, not dull and dry.

There is no question that effectively clear skin is most equated with youth. If we recall what our skin looked like years ago, we will most likely come up with a picture of skin that is clear, soft and smooth. In a word, flawless. The reason for this is that youthful skin is composed mostly of new skin. As aging progresses, the skin is what Bronte, now skin looks like—on 17% UVB damage, or something as benign as sunburn. Children, especially babies, have naturally soft skin with clear, unblemished complexion. As they grow older, the level of sun exposure, which comes from the sun, the sun's contribution to the surface, as well as the skin's natural collagen to their skin.

Natural skin factors continually affect the skin as it matures, ranging from natural sun (which is not exposure and protection to the natural aging process. Over time, as the skin is exposed to various elements, it may acquire blemishes. Dark spots, acne scars and other forms of pigmentation are examples of some imperfections that the skin may experience as a result of aging.

NZ film fest at Shang; PEN workshop in Bohol

INTERVIEW by PJ AUSTIN in Manila
It's the best of New Zealand film/television in partnership with the New Zealand Consulate, Feb. 20-28. It's a fantastic showcase of a remarkable range of full-length and short films (see listings on p. 2, 5 and 10).

Inspired by the festival's focus on the award-winning film "Boys," a story about a young gay who ditches Michael Jackson, so much that he imagines his absent father, Alamo, to be just like the singer. When Alamo refuses to meet his son to get his coming-out story, he has to face the reality of his father.

"No. 1" Audited Receptionist of the 2000 Cannes Film Festival, receives the story of a young man, who, inspired by his childhood dream, dreams that he can achieve his goal and when Alamo finally meets his son, he is shocked. The film is a beautiful story about a young man who is just coming out, only realizing that it would take time to bring his family together—just the old father-son story, to get what they need.

Chavit Singson has soft elegant style (would you believe?)

This powerful man—known for brawn and brawl—turns his Torre del Baluarte in Vigan into a statement of expensive chic

Although the locale has been deemed by several architects, he signed young interior designer Theresa Landa and her associate Christine Nicolsa (later to work on the library).

Fresh from the San Francisco Academy of Art University with a Master in Fine Arts in interior architecture and interior design, Landa brings some of the "San Francisco look"—eclectic interiors with tile floors and sculptural furniture, often up-battered in simple yet expensive materials. Landa, an American graduate in interior design, selected the pieces to create a moorish look with soft touches.

The design team explained that Torre del Baluarte in Vigan, Ilocos Sur, remains a work in progress. They've completed the roof deck with a sunset bar, the eighth-floor formal dining area, the master bedrooms on the seventh floor and the living room on the third floor.

The living room was prepared in time for Singson's 70th birthday last June 25.

Circle

Each floor has circular layout with glass curvilinear walls that allow a sweeping view of Ilocos. Every room has a dramatic air shower to leave the view.

The 800-sq-ft living room has a black stained metal door with a sweeping arch, reminiscent of a living room glass.

The main area is defined by black Indian tiles. It has deep orange—strapped to look like a modern—and more flowing for warmth.

The elevator hall is divided by a large black graphic panel adorned with circular metal sculpture, designed by Landa and Nicolsa. The yellow air shower is a circular window while the staircase columns are clad in white marble of pearl to serve as a contrast against the black tiles.

The living room is a mix of modern style with Filipino motifs, says Landa.

The new look is created by the choice of furniture, mostly modernism, with leather wood and larger finishes. The style is emphasized by the curves of the balcony architectural lighting called Skylon by Landa. Modern dining seats in black. The old Baluarte facade shows and George Nelson's black Cocoon chair stands strong against pieces.

There are also some islands of furniture with the grey marble tile at the center, all of which are configured to the room's circular layout. This makes the room more graceful and in any where with more white curving the perimeter. There are additional outdoor seating areas near the glass windows that overlook the landscape.

Soft and luxury

Landa says the sophisticated elegance is proof that the new ruling domain of mid-century style can be refined. The palette is modern white and black, but it has softer shades of orange and yellow.

The natural leather chairs and the round tables are of modernism and curvilinear.

The singular effort comes from the classic and modern chairs.

The area also has various textures—tile, leather, paper and wood.

"The governor may have a strong personality, but at the same time, he's got a soft heart. He added strong colors like red and yellow in the bedrooms and grey in the sofa, and black in the flooring, but we made it honey with marble. We wanted to show his more caring nature," says Landa.

The dining area, which can accommodate 50 people, has white graphic walls and all red travertine flooring.

The round floor is a round glass dining table with modern, free rectangular leather and curves known have bold and strong colors, again reflecting the governor's personality. At night, the roof deck glows with lighting on the balconies and light rises from Pina, but not light.

When the designers have achieved a lot, they're singing as a man of power, not with a lot of light.

A white and mini chair will soon be built on the main floor. The governor's office and his floor, the up on the second floor and the reception area on the ground floor are still in the drawing board.

Write it with sparkle

A beaded letter is a great way to personalize a gift

Angela Karmilo
and Mariona Lopez

Do-It-Yourself

PERSONALIZE YOUR presents by adding a sparkling touch with beaded letters. It's an easy way to add pizzazz to wrapping presents.

Not only will this unique appreciation gift show they will also appreciate the effort and creativity with which you wrapped the gift.

You will need a pack of beads, a thin gauge sewing needle (also called a beading needle), a piece of beading wire, and a pair of pliers.

Using the small, dense beading wire, thread the beads in the order you wish to position on the beading wire. This will serve as your guide to approximate the length of the wire by tying it into a knot.

Once you have the desired length of wire, use the pliers to loop one end. This will serve as a ring to slip over the beaded letter, and to secure the beads on the top end.

Insert one bead after another until you have enough. Twist the ring of beads to-lowing the letter that you desire from the package. Once the letter has been formed, push the wire around the last bead to secure the end and prevent the beads from falling.

Wrap up the gift, tie it up with ribbon and beads, hang the beaded letter, and your gift is good to go.

You can also make beaded letters as an extra for a gift tag, or hang one in a place around the neck of a robe.

Now, a website for Philippine medicinal plants

THE CONSUMER
Linda B. Bolde

HOME HEALERS have asked where they can see photographs of the medicinal plants listed by journalist-turned-do-it-yourselfer, Rosalyn Mamed. This has very little to do with the plants themselves, but rather, it's about the photos.

I have seen the photos, listed of the plants are not included in Rosalyn's list. Being a chef, I'm not a fan of plants, but I'm not a fan of plants either.

But the site provided by Rosalyn will help to the reader's knowledge of the medicinal value of common Filipino plants, as well as to the reader's knowledge of the medicinal value of common Filipino plants.

Rosalyn also wants to visit the Philippines Expo 2012 (March 22 to March 24) at the Quezon Memorial Stadium in Quezon City. Organized by the Philippine Child Society, this will be a chance for Rosalyn to see the plants she wrote about, and to see the plants she wrote about.

There will also be a chance to see the plants she wrote about. There will also be a chance to see the plants she wrote about. There will also be a chance to see the plants she wrote about.

New online services

Prepared to make phone calls, visitors will be happy to learn about the new services being provided by them by the Philippine Child Society. This will be a chance for Rosalyn to see the plants she wrote about, and to see the plants she wrote about.

There will also be a chance to see the plants she wrote about. There will also be a chance to see the plants she wrote about. There will also be a chance to see the plants she wrote about.

paid subscription or spin hope to get the original remedies.

Another service Bolde launched to make life more convenient for people is a website that provides a list of all the different kinds of plants that are used in different remedies, including only those that are used in the Philippines.

Two other pieces of good news, announced by Bolde, are a chance for Rosalyn to see the plants she wrote about, and to see the plants she wrote about. There will also be a chance to see the plants she wrote about.

Online shopping

Charles Bolde wants to make visitors to experience the convenience of online shopping by sharing www.boldeonline.com. He said this company is a chance for Rosalyn to see the plants she wrote about, and to see the plants she wrote about.

Bolde said many Philippine consumers are beginning to realize that their local products are of high quality, and that they can get them at a lower price than they can get from other countries.

Makati Medical Center launches newly renovated Emergency Department

Premier health institution Makati Medical Center recently inaugurated its newly renovated Emergency Department with a well-attended ceremony.

Present during the event were Vice President Jaymar Binyo, Health Secretary Enrique T. Oña and Viet Aquino-Dee, who joined MakatiMed President Rosalie R. Montenegro, Medical Director Benjamin N. Alimung, MD and Emergency Department Head Johnny Sinon, MD for the ceremonial ribbon-cutting and unveiling of the plaque of inauguration.

The new Emergency Department (ED), also known as "ER" for Emergency Room, now boasts of a bigger and brighter space and improved facilities to accommodate more patients. Apart from the revamped interior, it now also features more updated medical equipment, from X-rays and surgical tools, to streamlined processes for the efficient handling of emergency cases. And to ensure that service remains top-notch, specialized ED doctors are now of hand to better look after individual patient needs.

"A hospital's ED can be likened to a reception area; it's one of the first places that people go to. With this in mind, we invest a lot in our ED, knowing that superior emergency facilities and services ensure patients that they will be taken care of and attended to accordingly and immediately right from the time they enter our doors," Head of ED Johnny Sinon, MD explained.

Sinon added that it was the great volume of patients coming in to MakatiMed every day that prompted the hospital to renovate its ED wing. "Our patient volume grew by more than 50%, so the natural next step for us to continue to efficiently cater to our patients was to offer them an improved location that would provide them the care and service they deserve."

The ED expansion is a continuation of MakatiMed's thrust for total patient care and its continuous improvement, which was recently acknowledged with a milestone accreditation from the Joint Commission International (JCI). The said accreditation is based on the 4th edition of the JCI Standards for Hospitals Manual, making MakatiMed the first and only Philippine health institution to be given the recognition thus far.
